PROFILE SUMMARY

Senior Full-stack Developer with 4+ years of experience in software development, specialising in Python, React, and AI-driven automation. I've built full-stack applications across diverse sectors, from banking to healthcare, and have a proven track record of delivering scalable solutions. Currently, I lead full-stack projects at Copy Cat Group, integrating AI and automation into core business processes, and have previously worked with U.S. and Kenyan tech companies. I excel in cross-functional collaboration, project management, and client communication, with a focus on application architecture and system design.
